A little good detective work after that ought to result in some arrests, for people do not buy dynamite as they buy other-things, and any person who bought two boxes, each containing fifty pounds, ought to be very easily traced. I regard it as highly probable that arrests will be made in this case inside of a week."

Sir Percy Sanderson, the British Consul-General at this port, was asked yesterday what he thought of the letter written to Gen. Greene, saying that British ships were to be blown up, and of the machine to which it led to the discovery. Sir Percy absolutely declined to express any opinion on the matter. He was very much disturbed by the entire affair, but did not want to talk about it. Other attachés of the consulate were asked about the matter, but they could furnish no explanation of the they could furnish no explanation of the sudden alleged outburst of anti-British sentiment in this city, which the dynamiter's less r expresses

It is estimated that $20 would cover the cost of the apparatus and its load. At the retail price of 16 cents a pound the dynamite would have cost $16. One dollar would cover the cost of the clock the works of which were used, and $2.50 is a liberal allowance for the batteries and cigar lighter.

Bryan G. Hughes, the well-known practical joker, volunteered the information last night that the police suspected him of sending the infernal machine to the Cunard pier. CRIME A'D FENALTY. L. Laffin Kellogg of the law firm of Kellogg & Rose said yesterday that in his opinion if any person were arrested for sending the bomb that person could best be held under section 645 of the Penal Code. That section provides that a person is guilty of a felony who puts "in, upon, under, against or near to any building, car, vessel or structure gunpowder or any other explosive substance with intent to destroy, throw down, or injure the whole or any part thereof, under such circumstances that if the intent were accomplished human life or safety would be endangered thereby, although no dam-Mr. Kellogg said he thought that the intent was shown by the deed itself. The extreme punishment of the felony is seven years' imprisonment and a fine of $1,000.

An attempt to commit murder in the first degree is punishable by ten years' imprisonment under section 686. The United States Secret Service men may possibly come to the help of the police again under section 5.353 of the United States Revised Statutes, which provides a penalty of "not more than $10,000," half to the informer, for any person who delivers high explosives on a passenger steamer.

SUES HAVEMEYERS FOR MINES. Pennsylvania Syndicate's Fight for Rich

Copper River Properties MA. Wash., May 10 -V. T. Hoag attorney for Valdes, is taking affidavits in several States to be used as evidence in the trial before Judge Wickersham at Valdes in October of the most important lawsuit yet growing out of the opening of the Copper River mining districts. The oppoeing parties in the contest for the rich Nicolai and other mines are John Stewart and a coterie of wealthy Pennsylvanians on one side and a group of New York men, including the Havemeyers, on the other.

The Pennsylvania men are operating under the title of the Chittna Exploration Company, their suit being brought against R. F. McLelland and others. They allege that after purchasing the Nicolai mine they engaged McLelland as mining expert to locate other copper properties. It is charged that he took title in his own name, and later sold the properties to the Havemeyers.

Hoaggart says that both syndicates are Hoaggart says that both syndicates are wealthy and that the winning side will construct a railroad 185 miles long from Valdes to the mines at an expense of $2,-000,000. According to Hoaggart, the Havemeyers have promised to do the construction work, if they are successful, while the Pennsylvanians also have $1,000,000 on hand to begin the work. The line will pass through the Nazina placer district.

NEWSBOY A BIG WINNER?

Beyers's Friends Say He Ran a $1 Shoestring Into $500 at Morris Park. Newsboys about the elevated station at Thirty-third street and Broadway were deeply engrossed in race charts yesterday. It was all because Herman Beyers, who has for several years sold papers at that corner, came back from Morris Park on Saturday night and reported that he had won $500. Circumstantial evidence seemed to indicate the truth of his story. In the first place, he exhibited a very large roll of bills, and in the second place he dis-appeared from his usual haunts.

Beyers couldn't be found vesterday, but, according to his associates, he went to the racetrack on Saturday with $1 and was forced to adopt "tactics" to get inside. Before the first race was run he vainly sought for some one to divide a dollar bet on Durazzo, and was at last forced to put up all the money he had rather than let. up all the money he had rather than let the good thing go. He got 40 to 1, accord-ing to the story, and put $20 on Extralaw at 10 to 1 for the second race and drew down O. Then he picked the winners in the rd, fourth and fifth races and only quit when he had enough.

I AM GOING TO FIND OUT WHO IS PAID," HE SAYS.

He Renews His Attack on Ebstein and Flays Police Captains-Police Roused to Action by His Statement That Women Ply Their Trade in the Streets. The fact that two men had been convicted and nine others had pleaded guilty in the County Court in Brooklyn uring the last week for having made handbooks on the races was referred to by the Rev. Cortland Myers in his sermon in the Baptist Temple, Schermerhorn street and Third avenue, last night.

These men were indicted and arrested through the instrumentality of the clergyman and upon evidence given by a nineteenyear-old detective who is a member of the Young Men's Christian Association and who is employed by the society of which the Rev. Mr. Myers is the chairman.

"Deputy Commissioner Ebstein," he said went away without giving any previous notice and didn't stop to explain why the police were unable to make the arrests. He will come back, and then he will be called to account. That list of eleven poolrooms given him eight months ago and never touched he has not cleared up. That, at least, was in his personal knowl

The Rev. Mr. Myers then referred to the fact that many police captains were able to retire and were in affluence. "They own horses and carriages and own houses and lands and are looked upon as being wealthy. For God's sake where did they get it? Somebody is paid for the protection of these wrongdoers and I'm going to find out who is paid and then

I'm going to tell the public. The man who takes this blood-stained money is most guilty. My supreme contention is for purity and fidelity in the officials, and there is not a shadow of excuse for the present startling conditions.

"When the officials can be bought by the criminal and money is more than manhood the republic is in peril and has no opportunity for proud boast. Every man how the office of police captain has been bought at an exorbitant price in a part of the city, and every man knows that it was a better investment than a gold mine.

"The East River is a warm stream and the same damnable influences are at work on this side. This is the making of criminals and increasing the production with astounding rapidity. Even the head of the department for the borough said that there was no other reason that any sane man could give. In Heaven's name, was there ever a more revolting confession made by any public official? Violators of law have been made to feel as secure as the best of citizens.

"This money laid in the hands of these Judases has crucified the best and highest elements in human society. This common blackmailing, bribery business has been the greatest factor in the production and increase of all forms of crime. When the official is a blackmailer government is only a farce and a system of robbery. the official is a blackmailer government is only a farce and a system of robbery. It is a wonder that it does not make the devil faint away to know what is going on.

"Yesterday a woman and four year-old boy came to see me. They were the wife and son of one of the men who was convicted last week of violating the law. The woman pleaded with me to intercede with the Judge to keep her husband from prison. I spent a tear-stained hour, but could not grant her request. I had to refuse her. I felt bad for her and the child, but the law must be upheld."

The Rev. Mr. Myers called attention last week to the fact that the streets were filled with women who were a detriment to decency and morality, and he threatened to make further trouble for the police cap-

The captains had enough trouble during the last two weeks with the handbook men, and on Saturday the policemen were notified to give especial attention to these women.

Patrolmen Daly and Brennan of the Adams street station were sent out on Saturday night in plain clothes to watch for the women whom the Rev. Mr. Myers referred to. While walking on Livingston street near Hanover place, Patrolman Daly, who has not been long on the force, met Minnie Evans, who is known as the "Irish Queen."

He alleges that she solicited him and he arrested her. He took her through Hanover place to Fulton street. As soon as they reached Fulton street, a Flatbush avenue open car came along, and before Daly realized what had happened the woman had made a dash from him and had leaped on the car. The motorman, seeing a man giving chase, and believing he intended to insult the woman, put on full power in order to distance the man. Daly, fearing that his prisoner might escape, pulled his revolver and fired two shots in the air to attract the attention of the motorman.

The latter stopped his car and the "Irish Queen," jumping off, picked up her skirts and was making a dash for liberty when Daly overtook her and managed to land her in the Adams street station without more trouble. She said she was 25 years old and lived at 566 Baltic street.

She was arraigned in the Adams street police court yesterday as were also Mary Smith, 24 years old of 131 Willoughby street, and Annie Ray, 19 years old of 166 Cumberland street, who were arrested by Daly for the same offence. They were all admitted to same offence, and their examination but down for bail and their examination put down for -morrow. Heretofore the Magistrates have dis-eharged these women, as the patrolmen could not say that they did not have a legiti-mate way of making a living. The "frish Queen" has been arrested many times be-

Mrs. Lord called to the child and he ran out to the carriage, where he was lifted in by the mother. The driver whipped up the horses and carried Mrs. Lord and her child to Pittsfield, where she left by the evening train for the West.

The loss of the child was discovered some time after Mrs. Lord had left Lenox and there was a pursuit to Pittsfield, but she had gone before Dr. Flint reached there. Messages were sent to the boy's father in Rochester apprising him of the incident.

Morris street on Saturday. The place where the body was found is at the foot of the Garret Mountain, and from that point there is a direct route over the mountain to Montclair, near where Contractor Hamilton was killed a week ago in a quarry by an Italian. There is a story that all the men employed in the quarry were Italians except one, and that one was about to give the name of the murderer when he was warned by the Italians. It is suspected was warned by the Italians. It is suspected that this man is the viotim of the second tragedy, but this is only speculation.

The body was without coat, shoes and collar. The collar, soaked with blood, was found on the eastbound track of the Lackawanna Railroad, and the coat was in a crevice of the retaining wall of the railroad. It also was soaked with blood in places. The shoes have not been found.

Detectives Lord and McInerney made a careful examination of the ground and noticed a distinct trail across the railroad tracks as if a heavy body had been dragged. Along this trail were stains of blood, starting from a pool of blood on the south side of the track and running to the retaining well, which drops perpendicularly to the canal, twelve feet below.

Drs. McBride, Todd and Glison performed the autopsy. They discovered that the hole in the back of the head had been made by a 38 calibre revolver bullet. It had ploughed its way through the muscles of the neck, injuring the spinal column and lodging in the right side of the throat just below the jawbone. It was impossible that this wound could have been inflicted by the man himself. The flesh beside it was not blackened or burned.

"CURT" JETT ARRESTED FOR Per Annum a Box Large Enough to Hold COURT HOUSE SHOOTING.

Posse Took & the Well-Knewn Kentucky Had Man in the House of His Mother—Sheriff's Men Jumped On Him and Discused Him—Lynching Expected.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 10 .- Curtis Jett, known throughout eastern Kentucky as "Curt," was placed under arrest at 2 o'clock this morning by Sheriff Woodsen McCord and a posse of eight men in Madison county two miles from Jackson's Landing, on the Kentucky River, for the assassination of James B. Marcum at the Jackson Court House on Monday last.

The Sheriff and posse went as far as Jackson's Landing in carriages and then walked to the home of Jett's mother, Mrs. Lenville Higgins, a mile down a creek. They anticipated a fight and went on foot, so that they could approach the house without attracting attention. It happened that when Jett arrived his stepfather objected to his taking shelter under his roof and had gone to Richmond, saying he would get a warrant for his arrest. When Sheriff McCord knocked on the GLENS FALLS UNION-RIDDEN. Stagnation in Building Operations and Business Caused by Strikes.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., May 10 .- While it is probable, that the experience of Glens Falls is not unique, yet that does not console the business people for the stagnation in business which is here, especially in the building trades. In a community than $10,000 worth of new work in progress and but very little in repairs. This is in decided contrast to 1902, when nearly half a million was expended in new buildings. This is especially due to trades-unionism in its most aggravated form. According to the reports of the State Bureau of Labor there is not a more closely labor organized town in the State than Glens Falls, and for the past year the demands of the unions have been numerous, burdensome and in some cases intolerable. Starting out in the spring there were strikes in the paper mills, lumber yards, lime kilns and cement works involving 2,000 workmen. After much mediation and arbitration and weeks of idleness matters were adjusted, concessions being made on both sides. Then in August came the Hudson Valley Railway strike, which lasted nine weeks and which cost hundreds of thousands of dollars and one life. and one life.

During the winter the Weil Haskell

During the winter the Weil Haskell Company, manufacturers of skirts and shirt waiste, employing nearly 800 people in their factory and about 400 outside, were annoyed by two strikes, which were settled with concessions. But a month ago came the straw which broke the camel's back. A few years ago the firm discarded several hundred sewing machines, and installed in their place high-speed machines, on the request of the operatives and on their promise to buy them in small installments. Later the operatives requested that instead of purchasing the machines they be allowed to rent them, as is done in Troy. This was granted.

Five weeks ago the operatives demanded.

Five weeks ago the operatives demanded, nmong other things, that the rental of machines be abolished and that they be furnished with free thread, which is not done by any manufacturer in the trade. The company refused to yield, and the union operatives went out and are still out. In place of the 1,000 names formerly on the payroll there are now less than 200, and it is the intention operations for the to entirely suspend operations for the ummer. In the building trades this spring the carpenters, plumbers, painters, paperhangers and all the tradesmen, save the brick and stone workers and plasterers, who receive $4.05 a day, demanded and obtained receive $4.05 a day, demanded and obtained an increase in wages. The result was that many projected buildings were abandoned, and only the very best of the workmen are at work at their trades, and the others are scattered from town to town, idle, or are working at the commonest of labor for $1.373/2 to $1.50 a day. Merchants are complaining bitterly of the loss of trade, and even the street railroad has been compelled to reduce its service. pelled to reduce its service. THE PEST OF WILD GARLIC. If Cows Feed on It the Milk and Butter Are

Madison Square.

Tainted-Also Taints Flesh of Cattle. Washington, May 10.-Hundreds of letters have been received at the botanical division of the Department of Agriculture in the past two weeks from dairymen and farmers all over the Middle Atlantic States, asking for suggestions for controlling the crop of wild garlie, which is not only damaging the milk, butter and other products of the dairy, but doing great damage tn other ways.

Mr. Lyster H. Dewey, who has for several years past devoted himself to a special study of this pest, says:

"This plant, which was probably introduced into this country by Germans, is propagated almost exclusively by means of secondary underground bulbs and serial bublets. The form most abundant in this country rarely produces seed. Those small secondary bulbs or "cloves" grow to a depth of from three to ten inches under the earth and live all winter.

"The damage done by the plant is varied and includes that to animals to be butchered, as it taints the flesh quite perceptibly. One of the most serious damages done is to milk and milk products the gream of the committee of the co to milk and milk products, the cream on the milk being even more strongly tainted than the milk itself, while butter made from such cream is utterly worthless. Even cheese cannot be made from milk so tainted.

The period of growth of wild garlic coincides almost exactly with that of rye and winter wheat. As the wheat grains and bulbs are similar, they are sometimes ground together, making the entire product of the wheat field useless. While methods for eradicating the plant have not yet been discovered, there are means of reducing the quantity and preventing the spread. Ploughing seems to be the easiest spread. Ploughing seems to be the easiest and most successful means of controlling the growth. This should be done late in the fall, the depth of the furrow varying in different soils, so as to leave as many bulbs as possible near the surface, where they will be exposed to alternate freezing and they may a traving a house should they will be exposed to alternate freezing and thawing. Any surviving shoots should be destroyed by early spring cultivation.

"This process, repeated for two successive years, will destroy almost entirely the most stubborn crop. Hogs confined on garlic patches in sandy land will root out and destroy the bulbs. For lawns the carbolic acid cure may be used. A few drops applied to the leaves of the plant or shoot will not kill the leaves but the bulb. On the White House lawn a large stand of the wild garlic was entirely destroyed by one application of the carbolic treatment.

TO AID THE JUNIOR REPUBLIC. society Women in Washington to Conduct a Country Fair.

WASHINGTON, May 10.-It is not every day that one has an opportunity of seeing an Ambassador's wife selling tea and lemonade, or society girls posing as dairy maids or as clerks in a country store, nor of viewing a popular young diplomat as a freak in a side show; but that is what is going to happen on Thursday, when the arden party, or country fair, is given on the grounds of the old Naval Observatory for the benefit of the Junior Republic.

Miss Van Ruypen, the daughter of Rear Admiral Van Ruypen, is to have a horse and wagon of the gaudiest type, fully equipped for fortune telling, while Mrs Alfred Clifford Barney will run a dairy, having as milkmaids a number of the handsomest society girls of the capital handsomest society girls of the capital arrayed in dairymaid fashion. The Misses McCauley will run a lotto table, and Mr. Ned Mitchell a shooting gallery. Mr. Hugh Legaré is keeping a dead secret the nature of his side show. Master Vincent Walsh, son of Thomas Walsh, with a number of his young friends, will run a separate side show of freaks, while his mother will dispense ice cream. Mrs. Corbin will keep a confectionery establishment and her sisters, the Misses Patten, will sell cakes. What is looked upon as the most novel sisters, the Misses Patten, will sell cakes.

What is looked upon as the most novel attraction of all is the country store and post office, with Mrs. Ward Thorun as manager, assisted by a lot of pretty girls as clerks and with Miss Boardman as postmistress. tion Will Be Refused. Ex-Police Captain George S. Chapman would like to get back on the force. He retired on Jan. 12, just a few days after Gen. Greene became the head of the department Chapman gave as a reason that he needed rest. Others said that he was frightened because District Attorney Jerome was after him. After Chapman got out Mr. Jerome said that he had nothing against Commissioner Greene said last night that he could not remember exactly how he had been approached on the matter. He wasn't sure whether Chapman himself had made application for reinstatement or whether some friend had asked if such a thing would be satisfactory to the Commissioner.

Gen. Greene did say emphatically that Chapman would not be replaced on the force. The Police Commissioner has the power to reinstate a policeman who has retired if application is made within a year from the date of retirement. However, the law holds that a policeman who has been retired on a pension cannot be has been retired on a pension cannot be removed from the pension list under any circumstances. This would bring forth a technicality as to the question of a man drawing pay as a police officer and receiving a pension at the same time.

Four Wagonloads of Stolen Goods. TOLEDO, May 10 .- More than $5,000 worth of merchandise, including almost everything to be found in a department store, was discovered in the house of Charles Paine, a negro, yesterday afternoon. Much of the property has been identified as com-ing from several towns within a hundred miles of here, and the police look upon the place as a storeroom for a gang of thieves.

NEW ORIEANS, May 10 .- In a shooting ffray at Pinevilla, La., yesterday, M. V Flomers. Wyatt Hoffman and James Hoffman were wounded mortally. The trouble arose over a quarrel at a dance between the Flomers and Hoffman boys. Their fathers took the matter up, with the result of a general shooting, in which young Flomers was the only one who escaped.

In all, over four wagonleads of plunder were carted to the police station.

COULDN'T GO WITH ROOSEVELT. President Turns Down Monterey Caval-

cade in His Sunday Ride DELMONTE, Cal., May 10.-President Roosevelt spent Sunday very quietly. He went for a seventeen-mile ride this morning with Surgeon-General Tracy, President Benjamin Ide Wheeler of the University of California, Steward Edward White, Col. Ward of the Fifteenth United States Infantry, Mayor Johnson of Monterey and

A large delegation of Monterey's citizens had prepared to join him and were sadly disappointed when the President announced that a cavalcade did not meet his views of a quiet Sunday morning. The President attended services in the afternoon at St. John's Episcopal Church and spent the evening in his rooms.

Scattle Threatens to Make a Scene Over Tacoma's Monopoly of Him. TACOMA, Wash., May 10 .- Tacoma and Seattle are bickering over the question as to who shall have charge of President Roosevelt and his party when he is escorted to the Puget Sound navy yard at Bremerton on May 23. The navy yard is somewhat nearer Seattle than Tacoma, and in that city is considered a Seattle institution In arranging the President's Puget Sound trip provision was made for a trip by steamer from Tacoma to Bremerton, and thence to Everett, before reaching Seattle. Plans approved by Secretary Loeb provide for embarkation upon the steamer Spokane at Tacoma for the trip. Secretary Loeb specified that the steamer should not carry over twenty-five guests other than the Presidential party. The Tacoma committee has invited twenty-five prominent citizens to escort twenty-nve prominent cutzens to escort the President on the excursion until he is landed at Seattle. Congressman-elect Humphrey of Seattle headed a committee from that city, which visited Tacoma yes-terday and demanded that the escort com-mittee of twenty-five should include ten or twelve Seattle men.

twelve Seattle men.

The Tacoma committee said this would be impossible, as invitations had been extended covering the entire twenty-five. Congressman-elect Humphrey championed Seattle's cause, while Congressman Cushman sided with Tacoma. A hot discussion followed, ending in the appointment of a committee of Tacoma men to ascertain if any of their invitations could be withdrawn so as to afford places for Seattle men. as to afford places for Seattle men. This is believed to be improbable, despite Congressman Humphrey's threat that if Seattle is left out he and his committee will follow the party to the wharf and there appeal to the President for permission to accompany him on the sound trip.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE OG.

No Progress Made in the Yellewstone River Murder Case. BUTTE, Mon., May 10.-The search for he head and arm of the woman supposed to be the victim of a murder in the National Park, which were seen in the Yellowstone River near Jardine on Saturday, has failed to recover them. The story told by Mrs. Paul, who saw the gruesome objects, seems to be confirmed by the discovery of another piece of fiesh and bone near the same spot in the river. It is believed to be a part of a human body. The river has been dragged, but without finding anything

Mrs. Paul's description of the woman's head and the earrings, as well as of the rings, gives the officers a slight clue to work on, and inquiries are being sent broadcast for information of the disappearance of any woman.
